SENATE ADOPTS PEACE RESOLUTION

PROM MAGIC LURES 1,600 TO CAPITOL

State House a Blaze of Splendor as Music Starts

GOVERNOR IN WELCOME

Deirdre Cox and Lathrop Follet Lead Grand Opening March

Sixteen hundred expectant pairs of feet flashed into the rhythm of "On Wisconsin" shortly before 10 p. m. Friday night and the grand march of the 1921 Junior Prom was on. Like a magical prestigitator, "Cope" Harvey swinging his neomusical baton over the musicians of the Chicago Country club orchestra had given motion to the gay colors, and brought life to a dormant fairyland under the great twinkling dome of the state capitol.

Deirdre Cox, looking every inch the fairy queen of Prom in a gown of lustrous black chiffon velvet, slipped her arm through that of "his highness," Lathrop Follet, general prom chairman, and followed by a retinue of committeemen and their partners, and a procession of other daily garbed women and gallant escorts, commenced a splendid progress through the festal labyrinth of marble columns.

The moment that had been the focal point of university society interest for the whole year had arrived. The crowds of spectators that thronged the upper galleries of the capitol leaned far over the broad balustrades to gain a better command of the scene below.

Governor in Welcome
The marchers swung up the wide stairs to the second floor of the building, promenade once about, then down again to the main floor. As the last bars of the march music lost themselves in echoes in the great wings and the procession came to a halt, all attention was directed to the box in the balcony where Gov. E. L. Philipp, like the sage in the fairy story, appeared, to give, in a brief speech, his greetings to guests and to welcome them to Prom wonderland.

Hardly had the governor ceased speaking when there was an explosion, a lightning-like puff, and a cloud of white smoke sailed languidly upward to be broken into wisps of little white, misty wisps by the incandescent stars in the high

NORWEGIANS TO HONOR FREEDOM

Celebrate 160th Independence Day Here On Monday

The Madison branch of the Sons of Norway will hold a celebration Monday evening in Turner hall in honor of the 160th anniversary of Norway's adoption of a constitution. The program, beginning at 8 o'clock, follows:
Song by the audience, "Ja Vi Elsker."
Address in Norwegian by Joakim Ihlen, U. W. student from Norway. Song by a double quartette.
Address in English by Atty. Gen. John J. Blaine.
Violin solo on "Hardanger" violin by Harold Smedal.
Songs by the audience, concluding with "America."
A. J. Myrland, president of the local lodge, will preside.

Norway's constitution is, with the exception of that of the United States, the oldest constitution of any country in the world today. The condition of the world at the end of the Napoleonic wars was a good deal like the present time. Norway had by the treaty of Kiel been transferred by the powers from Denmark to Sweden, but Norway objected to being handed over like a piece of merchandise. A meeting of representatives was held at Eidsvold and a constitution was framed which was adopted May 17, 1814. Based on this constitution, a voluntary union with Sweden under one king took place later. The union was dissolved June 7, 1905, and since then Norway has been a separate kingdom.

James Jaeger Admits Theft of E. E. Keedy's Car Last Night

A Ford roadster belonging to E. E. Keedy, 203 Atwood ave., which was stolen last evening, was recovered during the night and with it James F. Jaeger, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jaeger, 1121 E. Millin st., who pleaded guilty before Judge Casson Saturday morning to having taken the car without permission of the owner.
Young Jaeger drove the car around for some time, and finally went out to Sun Prairie with it. There he picked up a number of Madison people, and brought them back to town. They were not aware that the car was a stolen one.
Police Officer John Arnold caught the car and took them all to the station, where all but Jaeger were dismissed. Jaeger's parents appeared in court with him, but their plea to have him in their custody over the week-end availed nothing, and the lad was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. The case was continued to Monday.

(By the Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—A policy of "hands off" for the American legion in disputes between employers and employees or between capital and labor is outlined by Franklin D'Olier, national commander, in a letter to Thomas Goldingay, state adjutant of New Jersey.
Regarding instances in which members of the organization are reported to have taken sides in strikes the letter says:
"I should say that as an organization the legion should adhere closely to the policy of avoiding the taking of steps in any controversy between employers and employees, although individual members as individuals have the right to do so."

LEAGUE MEET HERE MONDAY

Nonpartisans May Endorse Candidates In Senate and Assembly

The Dane county convention of the Non-Partisan League, will be held at the court house at 2 o'clock Monday. The delegates will probably number 100 or over and there may be nearly 200. Delegates were elected from every township in the county at town primaries held on May 4.
The convention will be called to order by Emil Pladsen, state secretary, after which a chairman will be elected and the business of the convention conducted entirely by the delegates without any participation by the organizers.
The main business of the convention will be the selection or endorsement of candidates for the assembly and senate, and the election of one delegate to attend the state convention.
Asked as to how there can be an endorsement of assembly or senatorial candidates when none have yet been chosen by other parties, W. C. Zumbach, one of the organizers, said that several persons have announced that they will be candidates and some of these may be endorsed by the convention.
The convention may elect delegates to a senatorial convention yet to be called, or may appoint a committee to select congressional candidates in conjunction with the other counties.
On May 4, town conventions were held throughout the state. Dane county is the first to hold a county convention. Stark and Columbia counties held their conventions on Tuesday and beginning next Wednesday four counties will hold conventions every day until the whole state is covered.

STATE RURAL PLANNERS IN CONFERENCE

Representatives From All Counties Meet at Capitol

BEGIN WELFARE PROGRAM

Experts Declare Conservation and Cleanliness Vital Necessities

That residents of agricultural communities are appreciating the value of rural planning was shown Saturday by the large attendance at the conference or school of representatives of the various counties in the state on the rural planning law. There were farmers in attendance from practically every county in the state.

C. P. Norgord, commissioner of agriculture; B. G. Packer, director of immigration, and John A. Hazelwood, chairman of the Wisconsin highway commission, called the conference.

In many counties of the state the work has already been begun even though organization has not yet been accomplished. Mrs. William Hintz of Polar, Langlade county, said that the township of Polar had already purchased land for a 12 acre park. Among those who discussed these subjects were the county committee from Oconto county; G. W. Bingham, Friendship; M. Maas, West-De Pere; the entire committee from Waushara county; James Martin, Salem; Co. Supt. J. J. Kerwin and Supervising Teacher Frank Stewart, Kenosha county; Dr. H. E. Christopherson, Cobay; John N. Burns, Monroe; D. L. Balsack, Edgerton; Gail Chadwick, Balsam Lake; T. K. Osterstrom, Bayfield county; Josephine Grafton, Hayward, and others. The attendance was so large that the assembly chamber had to be used for the meeting.

Explains Rural Law.
The rural planning law was explained by C. P. Norgord, commissioner of agriculture. His talk was largely devoted to the organization work and to the necessity of each county in the state immediately selecting its county planning committee. Mr. Norgord pledged the aid

ARNSTEIN SURRENDERS TO POLICE

Arrest Ends Country Wide Search of 3 Months

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Julius W. (Nicky) Arnstein, reputed "master mind" of New York's $5,000,000 bond-theft plot, was arrested here today in the district attorney's office when he appeared there with his wife, Fannie Brice, the actress.
Arnstein told reporters he had been in Pittsburgh all the time the police have been looking for him. The elusive "Nicky" for whom police from coast to coast and even in Canada have been searching since last February in finally fulfilling his promise to surrender, appeared at the district attorney's office bright and early.
He was also accompanied by his lawyer. They waited for attaches of the office to arrive.
"Nicky" retained his reputation as a dodger until the last. He described his entrance into the city undetected by the sleuths.
He arrived at the Pennsylvania terminal from Pittsburgh and was met by his wife in her automobile. He entered and drove down Fifth avenue in Broad daylight. Despite the fact that his pictures have appeared in newspapers over all the continent, he sped down the thoroughfare unrecognized.
To heighten the effect, "Nicky" ran into his police pursuers, thousands strong, forming for the annual New York police parade.
The Arnstein car was held up for several minutes as the bluecoats fell in line and when he continued on his way to the criminal courts building, "Nicky" passed mile after mile of policemen reviewing them from his machine as it went.

20,000,000 Automobiles In The U. S. In 1925; 42 Percent Fords

Goodrich Tire Official Makes Prediction in Lecture at University. Company Makes 90,000 Tires A Day

"In 1925 there will be 19,565,000 automobiles in the United States, an increase over the production of 1920 of 40 per cent," declared Mr. C. P. Ufford, of the B. F. Goodrich Tire Co. of Akron, O., yesterday before the School of Commerce.

"It is the business of the Research department to make these predictions, and the statistics we base our statements on never lie," continued Mr. Ufford. "If things don't work out exactly as we say, then something has broken down outside the world and God has decided on another course."

"Of the motor vehicles listed by the state registrars in the country, 42 per cent of the cars are Fords, and they take half of all the tire output in the United States," went on the lecturer. "Our Ford production is isolated just as we set aside our motorcycle market and our trucks, the classification makes for greater ease in disposition as well as manufacture.

"The Goodrich company, making the Goodrich and the Diamond line at the present time, are turning out an output of 90,000 tires a day, which continued for a 25 day month makes a total of two and a quarter million tires every month, that are shipped from Akron and our factory; it comprises about 1,985 carloads."

"The study of geography is a subject I hope is offered in your curriculum here," said Mr. Ufford. "It is absolutely essential that a man have an intimate knowledge of the transportation facilities of all the important resources of each district, which he learns only from geography, if he would master the laws of transportation and acquire an understanding of the trade tendencies of the country. It is the natural causes of distribution that play the more important role."

ISSUES PLANK FOR ELECTION

F. K. Shuttleworth Announces Campaign Stand

The following statement was issued today by F. K. Shuttleworth, Republican candidate for congress from the third district:
"It is with a hope of success, I announce I am a Republican candidate for member of congress of the third district at the September primaries. I enter the campaign with a zest, anxious and willing to meet all aspirants. I will make the fight a lively one from start to finish. All masks will be torn off. John M. Nelson and James C. Monahan will be made to stand before the public in their true light. Mr. Nelson is a half-breed and has spent the most of his life in office, 14 years a congressman. Mr. Monahan is a stalwart and was a U. S. revenue collector for many years. The major part of his life has been spent in office. I have never held office.
"I represent no faction or sordid interest. I will not vote against a good bill because it is proposed by a Democrat. I am not a high protectionist, and never was. I represent the masses and not the classes."

FIX INDEMNITY FOR GERMANY

Definite Sum Will Be Named, Conference Decides

(By the Associated Press)
HYTHE, England—Germany is not to be left much longer in doubt as to the amount of indemnity which she must pay under the treaty of Versailles. It was decided at the conference here this morning between Premier Millerand and Premier Lloyd George and their advisers that a definite sum should be named for Germany to pay.
This decision was the most important result of the morning conference. Millerand accepted the principle of naming a fixed amount on condition that France should be conceded priority, so that in effect she will have a first mortgage on the German indemnity, and that part of the payment to her be made immediately. Belgium, it is stated, will be placed on the same basis as France.

DOUBLE WEDDING HERE MAY 18 IF

Young Folks Haunt Courthouse Seeking Judge To Grant Special Permit

"But we've everything arranged for Tuesday," exclaimed four disappointed young people, Saturday afternoon, when informed that they would have to wait five days before getting married or else get a special permit from a judge.
They were George E. Hilgers, 523 Wingra st., and his prospective bride, Miss Emma C. Boehme of St. Paul and Fred L. Gonyea of New Prague and his sweetheart, Miss Rose Hilgers, brother of George Hilgers. With them was Mrs. C. Hilgers, their mother.
They have everything planned for a double wedding at St. James church Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock high mass, and if they can get a special dispensation from Judge Hoppmann Monday, the wedding will go off as arranged.
In vain they wandered about the courthouse at just before noon, hunting a judge. But they were out of luck. Judge Hoppmann was out of town. Judge Stevens had gone and was not expected to return and Judge Zimmerman had also left.

Detroit's automobile factory workers sought the two towns for homes and today the census bureau reported a population of 48,615 for Hamtramck and 40,599 for Highland Park.

PHILIPP MEN HIDE BEHIND WOMENSKIRTS

Wives of Prominent Stalwarts Alternates to the Chicago Convention

ARGUMENT FOLLOWS

Sol Levitan and Mrs. Geo. E. Gernon Named From Third District

The Philipp reactionaries dominating the state central committee at Milwaukee yesterday hid behind the skirts of the women of the state in evading a moral responsibility placed upon them by the voters at the recent election.

In spite of the fact that the people of Wisconsin by a majority of nearly 100,000 indicated that they wanted men and women imbued with progressive principles to represent them at the Chicago convention the members of the state central committee voted this will of the people in the selection of alternates made yesterday.

Women Are Reactionaries
In order to get around the statement that 24 of the 26 alternates named should be progressives the committee named 16 women and of the 10 men named only five were progressives. The women named are largely the wives of prominent stalwarts in the state.

In the third congressional district Sol Levitan and Mrs. George E. Gernon were named. Mrs. Gernon is the wife of the secretary of the Gisholt Machine Co.

It was pointed out yesterday at the meeting that the men in control of the state central committee who were so anxious to recognize the women of the state are the same men who opposed the road in Wisconsin. Mr. Levitan pointed this out and told the members that the attempt of the committee to escape its plain responsibility by naming women of reactionary tendencies would not go with the people of the state.

Otto Bosshard, candidate for delegate at large on the uninstructed slate, also indulged in some plain talk to the committee. He contended that the committee could not go in the face of the election returns and name reactionary alternates for progressive delegates.

The suggestion to name the women came from Senator Louis A. Foss of Milwaukee. Senator Roy Wilcox sent a communication to the committee urging that women be named.

Dithmar's Name Withdrawn

Dwight T. Parker, Fenimore, suggested Lient. Gov. E. F. Dithmar as one of the alternates, but the suggestion was withdrawn when John C. Chapple, Ashland, said that it was hardly fair to give one of the places to a candidate for governor.

Mr. Parker was of the opinion that to keep faith with the people the committee should name La Follette delegates. Sol Levitan, Madison, pressed this point. Otto Bosshard, La Crosse, and Chairman George A. West, Milwaukee, took the same view despite the fact that they were unpledged candidates in the recent election.

Mr. Parker's suggestion led to considerable discussion, during which the committee was urged to name "republican" alternates without reference to factional affiliations.

Chairman West, in his opening address, referred to "political vandalism rampant in Wisconsin," meaning that the socialists elected the republican delegates in the recent convention.

Mr. West expressed the belief that the primary election law should be amended so that not to exceed 25 per cent of the voters of the socialists and democrats could participate in our primaries, thus handicapping to some extent the political vandalism that is so rampant in Wisconsin.

RURAL PLANS IN DISCUSSION

of the state officials to these committees.

Mr. Hazelwood devoted his lecture to the practical work that can be done at once and one of his suggestions was the elimination as soon as possible of ugly billboards. He also said that one of the first steps the committee should take should be to stop roadside dumping of tin cans and other rubbish.

Mr. Packer spoke on the practical side of the work and said that the county committees as soon as organized should get in touch with the people most interested in the county in the work, discuss specific items of community interest in the county in which it is organized, and call in the county representatives of other organizations and see what they could do to co-operate. He also said that as soon as possible meetings of the entire community should be called and he suggested as subjects for discussion farm production, farm business, conservation, boys and girls interests, and the general community life.

Farmers Need Recreation

Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones spoke of the need of recreation for farmers, and said that impromptu gatherings should be organized as soon as possible. She also told of the work which was being accomplished in the organization of community clubs, farmers' clubs, women's clubs, poultry, pig, calf or canning clubs.

F. A. Aust, professor of land-use design of the University of Wisconsin, advocated that in each county the establishment of campfire sites and county parks and community fair grounds should be begun as soon as possible.

C. E. Brown, chief of the state historical museum, gave some interesting information in regard to the protection that was already being given noted land marks such as Indian burying grounds and the sites of early French, British and American trade posts.

Frederic Cranchfield, secretary of the State Horticultural society, told of the work that the society had been carrying on since 1909 in the way of a campaign of education for the decoration of home and school grounds.

W. R. Larson, state supervisor of rural schools, said that in every county district there should be an organization of the school children under the guidance of the state superintendent of public instruction.

C. L. Harrington, state forester, described the eight state parks which are: the Inter State park of 600 acres at St. Croix Falls; Perrot park of 300 acres in Trempealeau county; Nelson-Dewey park of 1,800 acres at Wyalusing; Devil's Lake park, 1,100 acres, Baraboo; Custer Memorial park of eight acres at Delafield; Peninsula park of 3,700 acres at Fish Creek; Patterson park, 600 acres, at Superior; and Brule park of 5,000 acres at Brule. He said these parks were now being utilized for farmers' picnics. He said he looked for the time when there would be small areas in every county given up to park purposes.

Col. W. J. Anderson said that he was in touch with the county press of the state and it had pledged its support to rural planning projects. Mr. C. B. Whitnall, secretary of the Milwaukee county park board, reviewed what was being accomplished in city planning in Milwaukee and said that the public there was now convinced of the value of city planning.

A. C. Clas, Milwaukee architect, gave a picture of the influence of beauty vs. ugliness upon human relations.

Professor John C. D. Mack, state engineer, spoke on the organization of societies of "Friends of Our Native Landscape" and said that the purpose of this society should appeal to every person in the state to become interested in the beautifying of the landscape.

Dr. Richard T. Ely of the university spoke on the value of social centers in all communities. He said that the isolation of the farm had been one of the blights of the past, but that civilization today was fast taking steps to do away with this isolation and add sociability to farm life.

President Escapes Capture After Grim 5 Day Battle

FLEES TO MOUNTAINS

Pursuit is Delayed by Loyal Forces Who Are Left Behind

(By the Associated Press)
VERA CRUZ—Pres. Carranza, who with loyal followers, has been fighting a grim battle against revolutionary forces near San Marcos for the past five days, has escaped capture, at least temporarily, according to dispatches.

Accompanied by 1,000 of his men the president has broken through the insurgent lines near Chalchicomula, 50 miles east of Puebla, and is believed to be in the mountainous country between Puebla and Oaxaca. He left behind him a force of soldiers which still is fighting to delay pursuit of the fugitive. Generals Aguilar and Sanchez, at the head of large units of revolutionary troops, on Thursday were reported preparing for a grand attack.

Before taking flight Carranza is said to have destroyed trains still held by his troops, together with war material too heavy to be carried away.

Gen. Sanchez threw his forces into the struggle Thursday afternoon but was repulsed. Gen. Lara Torres was injured fatally while leading his men in a hand to hand combat. He was taken to Orizaba where he died.

Carranza's troops were well supplied with artillery and machine guns and revolutionary troops met a hail of shells and bullets as they advanced. Heavy losses were inflicted on both sides.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

THE man who tempers economy with wisdom directs the expenditure of his money judiciously. He is more concerned with ultimate values than with mere cheapness of price.

It is to this type of person among motorists that the Paige car most appeals.

We, of the Paige Company, have always taken the view that unless a car has the qualities essential to comfort, lasting satisfaction and pride of ownership, it would be dear at any price.

So we built the Paige Glenbrook according to our ideas of what a real motor car should be—a car which would be not only a reliable vehicle of transportation but also a car of beauty, comfort and power.

RUSSIANS MUST HAVE OUTSIDE HELP SAYS VICE CONSUL VISITING HERE

People Dying Rapidly From Typhus; Sanitary Conditions Shocking; Medical Aid Insufficient

"Conditions in Russia are so bad that I do not know how the people can live six months longer without help from the outside," Joseph A. Ray, vice consul at Novo Nikolai-ievsk, Siberia, told ex-Congressman Thomas F. Konop, Madison, whom he is visiting, and to whom he was formerly secretary.

"People are dying there from typhus faster than they did in America from the flu. Sanitary conditions are so filthy and medical aid so poor that one would have to see for himself to believe."

"Hundreds of acres of grain," he went on, "are going to waste because it is impossible to get such small things as binder twine. They are destitute of everything, even simple tools."

The American dollar, Mr. Ray stated, brought 800 rubles the day the Americans left. Russian money is almost worthless.

So rich is Siberia in minerals and other resources, that, as soon as the allies become aware of it, there will be a rush even greater than that to Alaska when gold was discovered.

Mr. Ray, whose home is in Kewanee, Wis., has been in Siberia for three years and is home on a 60-day leave of absence. At the expiration of his leave, he expects to return to his work in Siberia.

MAIN HALL TO BE DEDICATED

Will be Named Bascom Hall; Ceremony to be Feature of Commencement

One of the chief features of the university 1920 commencement will be the dedication of university hall under a new name, Bascom hall. Main hall has never been formally dedicated, although one of the oldest buildings, and has no real name. The regents, therefore, decided to name it after John Bascom, president between 1874 and 1887.

Dr. Bascom met some of the most difficult problems the university has faced: the question of co-education, the imperfections of the preparatory system in the state, and the insufficiency of means. Under him the geology department developed, and the Latin and history departments strengthened.

Main hall is the third oldest building on the campus and was completed in 1859, the south wing and dome being added in 1899 and the north wing in 1906. In 1916 the dome burned and the rebuilding of the central part is contemplated.

Frazier Endorsed—Gov. Lynn J. Frazier, chief executive of North Dakota since the non-partisan league became a power in the state, endorsed by the league's state convention for the Republican gubernatorial in the June primary.

Agree On Tax Plan—Taxation of stock dividends virtually agreed on by a majority of the Republican members of the House Ways and Means committee as part of plan for raising money to pay cost of proposed soldier relief legislation.

Eber Gets Decision—"Bad News" Eber, Canadian bantamweight won the newspaper decision over "Bud" Dempsey, New York, breaking the latter's string of 19 consecutive unofficial victories at Detroit, Mich.

OPPORTUNITIES

in safe Securities for Conservative Investors

In the history of the bond business few periods can compare with the present for profitable opportunities in SAFE securities. And the demand for safe and seasoned issues is usually discriminating—investors now realizing as never before the importance of placing their funds in safe securities.

Not the least of these opportunities is the splendid income to be had from issues where the security back of them is just as strong as when the yield was only five per cent.

In fact, in many instances the security, by reason of increased assets and earnings, is greater than before.

Investors who choose wisely today will have good reason to be well satisfied in the days to come when interest rates will be nearer to normal and the purchasing power of the dollar greater than it is today.

These are the real bargains—and a carefully selected number of securities presenting the unusual combination of great strength and yield with the additional quality of marketability, are for sale at the

Development of Fox River Is Told In Indian Myth

Fable Gathered From Red Men by Early Resident of Green Bay; Story Like Ancient Lore; Serpent Changes Course of Wisconsin Stream According to Legend.

By FRED L. HOLMES

THE FABLES of the ancients are not more interesting than the Indian myths. Only a few of these myths have been gathered, interesting as they are. One of the most striking of these Indian stories is the one which tells of the development of the Fox river and the little lakes along its water courses. Allusion is made to this story in a book published over seventy-five years ago, but the story was gathered in complete form by John Wallace Arndt, an early Green Bay resident who transported goods up the Fox river during the early days before there were other means of transportation. He gathered the story of the Indians and placed it together like the story of Kalevala, the famous mythological story of the Finns.

"Long, long ago," says the story of the myth as related by Arndt, "soon after the beginning of things, a monstrous serpent, wise and cunning, lived in the Mississippi River. He became dissatisfied with his home and desired to visit the Great Lakes. So one day in the early spring he started on his journey. He first ascended Wisconsin River, making a great noise and commotion, throwing up sand banks and making shallow places, completely changing the natural flow of the river which before this had been a beautiful running stream without obstructions. When he arrived at the Portage the water from the Wisconsin was flowing over it, in a northerly direction. The ground over which the water flowed from the Wisconsin was low and swampy, being nearly level; the water was shallow and ran very low and spread over a large tract of country. He made his way over and through this shallow water until he struck a small stream flowing north. He plunged in and soon widened and deepened its narrow channel to accommodate his huge body and gathered in the water flowing across the Portage and help him along on his journey. He worked and worked, turning in many directions, seeking a better place to pass. At last, after many turns from north to south and from west to east he found the place that he thought would do. He soon cleared a space sufficiently large to suit him, and as the abundant game suited his taste he concluded to remain and enjoy himself as best he might. This place is now called Mud Lake.

Remained Many Months

"He remained here during many months, gorging himself with his favorite food, until he had consumed or driven away his supply. Hunger forced him to renew his journey. He now struck a different formation of sand, thrown into ridges and hillocks, the drift of the glacial period. Of this he made short work, soon throwing out a long channel of considerable width and several miles in length which became a long narrow lake, called by the Indians Buffalo Lake, because the last buffalo ever seen in this part of the country was chased into it and drowned.

"Here the serpent remained for some time. Buffalo and deer were plenty and he enjoyed himself royally. The water formed a dam and held the water back. The noise and confusion he made caused the game to leave his region. Having nothing to eat, he concluded to continue his journey, broke through the opposing bank, and he and the water rushed on to the next resting place, which was but a short distance below, where another bank intervened and barred the way for a time. By exerting his tremendous strength he removed the obstruction and moved on, leaving still another lake, now called Puckaway, from its many reeds and rushes, of which the Indians make their mats. The land to the right, or east, being high and piled up in great ridges, he concluded to change his course to a more westerly one, for in this direction the way seemed more open. He therefore changed his tactics, and instead of going through the hillocks he went around them, steering his great carcass among these obstructions until he had boxed the compass many times.

"He now came to a different country, where the obstructions were more formidable, land higher, rock and stone more compact and covered with a thick growth of forest. Nothing daunted, he rushed on, throwing his whole strength into the work. He scooped out a small lake which is now called Big Butte des Morts; by forming this lake he had tapped another supply of water to help him on his way, the Wolf River. Encouraged by this he moved along with more vigor and force

NEW MEMORIAL IS DEDICATED

President Sends Message To Ceremony at Arlington

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON — Pres. Wilson reviewed a parade of soldiers, sailors, marines and veterans of the civil, Spanish American and World Wars which preceded the dedication today of the great marble memorial amphitheater in Arlington National cemetery. The president was seated on the south portico of the White House as the pageant passed.

"The dedication of the national memorial closes and commits to history a great episode in the making of the nation," Pres. Wilson said in a message read by Secy. Baker.

"Gathered into this cemetery and elsewhere are most of the men who fought out the constitutional questions insoluble by other processes and now the government has set this great and beautiful building to view for all time the capital of the reunited nation.

Time has eliminated from our memories the bitterness which that controversy aroused, but time has only served to magnify the heroic valor of the captains and men who fought the great fight."

Forger, Moonshiners, Boy Thief Sentenced

Before Judge A. L. Sanborn left for New York City Saturday morning to hold a six weeks' term of court, he turned Louis Rutzke of Milwaukee over to the state board of control to serve his sentence of three years at Waupun for forging checks at Grand Rapids in 1917. John Orloski, 16-year-old Superior youth, was sentenced to serve one day in the Douglas county jail for stealing from interstate shipments; John Charles of Superior was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in the Douglas county jail for operating a still at his home, and John Williams of Superior was fined $100 and sentenced to four months in jail for having an unrecorded still in his possession. Ernest Gabel of Elk Grove was fined $100 for a prohibition law violation.

to greater and more herculean deeds. Another lake of greater extent was formed; here he sported, rolled, dove, and swam to his hearts content. Being wise he knew by the peculiar glimmer at times in the eastern sky that his work was nearly done, that a larger body of water lay off to the east and north, that the Great Lakes were near.

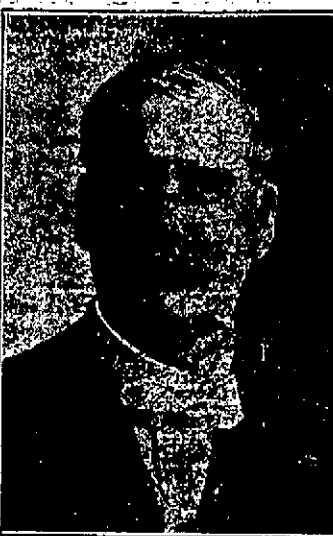

Name of Winnebago "He made another circuit of the lake, now called Winnebago, to find the weakest part of the barrier. He chose the northwest portion, for there the land is lower; there he made the breach and scooped out a small lake below, called now Little Butte des Morts. After remaining there a short time, he concluded to visit Lake Winnebago again and enjoy himself. After a time the desire to reach the Great Lakes returned stronger than ever. When he returned to the outlet, Winnebago Rapids, he decided that he needed more water below to help him through the rocky stratum; so at it he went and soon accomplished the task.

"On rushed, with its guide, the increased flow of water, tearing and rending the solid rock and removing the superincumbent earth and thus forming the Grand Chute. On went the work of reformation. The Little Chute was reached; the Grand Kaumana was twisted and wrenched and the afterflow was left to complete the work, while the great tide swept on, left its mark at De Pere, and passed on wasting its strength in the Great Lakes. Subsequently the fabulous serpent was swept over Niagara and perished ingloriously in its turbulent waters."

New Dry Order—Field agents of the southern prohibition district were ordered by the federal supervising agent at Roanoke, Va., to seize all material "designed to be used in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors."

DR. G. T. RYGH ACTIVE IN DRIVE FOR LUTHERANS

Dr. G. T. RYGH

There are thirty million Lutherans in dire need in Europe. Can we be indifferent?" asks Rev. Dr. G. T. Rygh of Madison, who has just returned from an extended trip through the mid western states in the interest of the Lutheran World Service campaign for $1,000,000 to relieve the distress of Europe.

Dr. Rygh said: "I return with profound conviction that the states visited will not only furnish their quota toward the proposed fund, but in some cases exceed their apportionment. My conviction may be based on insufficient data, but it remains the result of the expressions of groups of our church people of Colorado, Nebraska, Missouri, South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois and Michigan."

The JORDAN Silhouette

THE Silhouette is simply a frank expression of another Jordan ideal—a determination to meet the demand for a high-grade car, perfectly balanced, comfortable, economical, and yet light in weight, compact, and with rare ability to perform.

After all, the building toward an ideal has been the keynote of Jordan popularity.

Both men and women who have natural appreciation for comfort, poise and atmosphere, have found this Jordan Silhouette irresistible in its symmetry of line and beauty of color.

The chassis, of finished mechanical excellence, is the lightest on the road for its wheelbase. This Silhouette weighs only 2,800 pounds. Its entire movement is forward. No racking sideway or continuous bouncing so conspicuous in the cars of yesterday.

No wonder the Jordan has found such instant favor among the motor wise.

Was Badly Run-Down From Pneumonia

Mrs. Washburn quickly regained her strength and flesh.

A gripe, followed by pneumonia, left me with a terrible soreness in my chest, constant pain in my throat and a weak and nervous I could neither sleep. I had a chill every morning.

One day a young man told me how Emulsion had got him out of bed. I tried it. I have gained weight, appetite and flesh, sleep and I have for years, am doing a new work again and feel like a new man.

Write about Mils Emulsion. It doesn't wear out like most cod liver oils. It is so pleasant to take. It is as well as a medicine and it builds up the blood and tissues. It gives new blood to my veins and restores my color. I ever had.

M. Washburn, El Centro, Cal. I was nothing to try Mils Emulsion. It will build you up more quickly than anything else. Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritious and a corrective medicine. It is a healthy, natural bowel action, it gives appetite and puts the digestion in shape to assimilate food. It cures stomach trouble and constipation usually relieved in one day. It is the only solid emulsion made. It is so palatable that it is eaten with pleasure.

Write to Mils Emulsion Co., 100 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. Sold by druggists everywhere. "Guaranteed by The Luckey Co."

Housing of Madison school teachers was discussed at a meeting of the department of education of the Woman's club Wednesday.

Mrs. A. W. Schorger gave a report of the work carried on by the department in the distribution of milk in the schools for a year and a half by the Parent-Teachers' association.

Mrs. Steve told of the attitude of the teachers of Madison on the housing question and said that a large proportion of them would prefer to live in an apartment building in which only business and professional women resided.

Miss Emily R. Parsons, principal of the Harvey school, said that the established estimate for teachers' board and room is low. She also advocated some means that would enable the teachers to have a warm lunch at noon.

Mrs. C. P. Cary, chairman of the education department, appointed a committee composed of members of the Parent-Teachers' association, to hunt for desirable homes for teachers coming into the city next fall.

C. B. Chapman, president of the Association of Commerce, explained the housing situation in Madison and said that as rapidly as building plans progressed, conditions would improve.

STYLISH NEW PARASOLS FOR NEXT SUMMER'S GARDEN PARTIES

Here are some of the best of the new parasols for next summer. On the extreme left is a parasol of black and white striped silk which is very smart with a white outfit and a black sweater. It is good for town or country wear. The girl at the left is hiding behind a pretty parasol of purple silk with a deep border of beautifully brocaded flowered ribbon. It has a white handle with a purple ring.

The girl at the right has a beautiful creation in yellow silk with Japanese design embroidered in pastel shades in the center. Black and white combines in the handle and ribs. The parasol in the center is white silk and marked in gay contrast by clusters of roses. The ivory handle and ring are in keeping with the rest of its coloring. At the extreme right is a smart little sun-rain stick made of striped silk in brown and greens on a tan background. The edge is shirred on a cord and a amber and white handle makes an interesting combination.

CAPITOL BLAZE OF SPLENDOR AS PROM OPENS

marble firmament. In the moment of the flash the shutters of a battery of cameras had winked and the Prom pictures were taken.

Another swing of the magic wand, and "Cope" Harvey's orchestra slipped into the strains of the first dance number. Inert groups of color again quickened to kaleidoscopic animation, and the Prom program was, indeed, in full swing.

Lights Make Magic Scene
The capitol was decked and gaylanded to simulate a fairyland. Streamers and tinted lights carried out the color scheme in lavender and old rose, while smiling climbing the great pillars and palms lining the marble stairways and balconies made the scene as gay as a spring flower garden. It was a night-blooming garden, with magical moons of many colors pouring brilliance into its midst. Vari-colored spotlights from their positions in the topmost galleries began flooding the two floors below with richer colors than the hues of splendid gowns or the exhilarated flush on gay faces.

The rainbow moonbeams played with the loveliness of dazzling costumes, danced across the marble floor in time with the feet of tickle-toeing guests, and caught the flash of jewels and the more animated sparkle in bright eyes. The lighting effects were universally conceded to be the most novel and effective ever used at a Wisconsin Prom.

The first dance sped, then the second. Then at 11:30 p. m. the first relay of guests descended to the Capitol cafe on the floor below for the first serving of the Prom supper. Because of the large number attending, supper had to be served in four successive shifts, the last being scheduled to end at 2:30 a. m. a half hour before the closing of Prom. An orchestra played through the meal to the obligate clink of glasses and the subdued ripple of gay laughter and conversation. The dining room was decorated in yellow and white. Jonquils and daffodils made the center table most attractive, while spring flowers brought a fresh touch to the other tables.

Dome Gleams Afar
On the floor above, hundreds of twinkling feet continued persistently to tickle the smooth pavement, while the high marble and granite ballroom pulsed on all three floors to the syncopation of the orchestra. The strains surging down through the wings of the building set up tides and counter tides of echoing melody.

The great dome was gleaming both without and within. Fully illuminated for the first occasion in a long time, it glowed out in the night with a cool, silvery splendor. It served as a beacon to guide the progress of scores of motor vehicles and cabs that early in the evening began sweeping in hurrying currents back and forth on State street, taking guests to the mocha of merry-making, and when they had alighted at the portals, returning for more.

State Officials Receive
A corps of 30 ushers directed arriving guests to their boxes in various parts of the building. With the afternoon Prom reception eliminated, the reception at the capitol assumed double significance. In the governor's reception room distinguished guests of honor with Prom chairman and their partners for more than an hour tendered handshakes of greeting. Included in the receiving line were Gov. and Mrs. Emmanuel L. Philipp, Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Edward Dittmar, Chief Justice and Mrs. John B. Winslow, Secretary of State and Mrs. Merlino Hull, Deans and Mrs. George Seligery and Scott H. Goodnight, Dean F. Louise Nardin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Cox, Frank Pollette, Chairman Lothrop Pollette with Miss Cox, and numerous heads of Prom committees.

The reception over, the orchestra, which had been entertaining the crowds in the galleries with preliminary numbers, was ready to dash into the music of the grand march, and the great moment of starting one of the most dazzling splendid Proms in Wisconsin history was at hand.

The mayor, the chairman of the finance committee and one alderman will investigate the plan to add more land to the Harvey and Washington school grounds. Special appropriations included $65 for the purchase of a horse for park work, $1,500 to complete the spring cleanup and $10,000 to make a final payment on the Emerson school. Ald. Joseph Rupp introduced resolutions reviving several committees, and a new committee of five to report on a site for a municipal athletic field.

justed without exceeding the budget provisions.

On motion of Ald. Prior, the council reconsidered its vote accepting the audit report of James L. Dohr on the condition of the city treasurer, and the report was referred to the finance committee. Cash on hand April 20 was $1,278,150.08.

Recommendations of the street committee for reconstruction of the bathing piers in service last year were adopted. The council adopted a resolution by Ald. William Mautz requesting that the railroad commission order discontinuance of the skip stop on Baldwin St.

An amendment to the theater license ordinance provides a minimum and maximum license of $100 and $300, respectively.

The amendment to the ordinance regulating taxicab and baggage fares provides for passenger fares ranging from 50 cents for the first half mile to $1 for more than 2 1/2 miles, with 25 cents for each additional passenger, children under 12 half fare, and children under 6, free. Baggage is hauled for from 75 cents to $1, depending on the distance. The charges have been in operation for nearly six months, the time during which the ordinance has been pending in the council.

WEEK SHOWED BOOM IN CORNBig Upward Sweep in Prices Mostly Due to Traffic Tieup

CHICAGO—The upward sweep of prices in the corn market has continued this week. Railway traffic difficulties were largely responsible, and so too was activity of export for breadstuffs. Compared with a week ago, corn quotations this morning showed 1c to 5 1/2c advance, and varied from 1 1/2c decline to 4 1/2c and provisions were up 3 1/2 to 4 cents.

Persistent embarrassment met in obtaining corn here available for immediate use focussed the attention of traders on questions of transportation. Hopes of a gradual betterment of supplies were roused by orders on several western roads that performance be given to grain loading at the congestion failed to yield. Action of the Canadian wheat board in holding the price of Canadian wheat 35 cents to 40 cents a bushel pointed as a decided further bullish factor in the corn market and put special emphasis on subsequent urgent European demand for wheat and flour from the United States.

Oats were weakened by Canadian competition and by weather likely to promote growth.

Provisions sympathized with the advance of corn.

DEALINGS IN
STOCK LIGHTPools Active in Shippings, Oils and Specialties

NEW YORK—A more cheerful feeling prevailed in the stock market today, prospects of a revival of gold imports causing short coverings. Dealings were light however, reflecting the reduced attendance of members on the floor. Pools were active in several of the shippings, oils and specialties, substantial gains being recorded by Atlantic Gulf, Mexican and Pan American petroleum, industrial alcohol and some of the automobile issues. Textiles and tobacco also figured in the general improvement with such gains as Union Pacific, Reading and Rock Island. The close was firm. Sales approximated 275,000 shares. Liberty Bonds continued to decline however, with nominal dealings in the general bond list.

FRESH BOOST
IN CORN PRICEKeen Export Demand is Factor Favoring
Bulls

CHICAGO—Fresh advance took place today in the corn market. Keen export demand for wheat was an evident bullish factor. Besides there appeared to be little chance of any immediate substantial relief for the scantiness of grain supplies at the leading railway terminals. Opening quotations which ranged from 1/4 to 3/4 c higher with July 1.78 1/2 @% and Sept. 1.64 1/2 @% were followed by a slight reaction and then by material gains all around.

SUGAR SHORTAGE? RAISE BEES AND
FORGET IT, SAYS APIARY EXPERTH. L. McMurtry Declares Honey Can be Used for Preserving, Cooking, Sweetening; 90,000
Colonies in State

"There is sugar enough going to waste every year in Wisconsin to feed all the people of the state," said H. L. McMurtry of the bee culture extension department of the university this morning, in an interview for The Capital Times.

"But can honey be used in place of sugar in the kitchen for cooking and on the table for sweetening things?" Mr. McMurtry was asked. "Indeed it can," he answered, "and in view of the high price of sugar I am using it extensively in my own home. It is better than sugar for cookies, and is used by the bakers extensively, as cookies sweetened with honey keep soft. It is excellent for all kinds of pastry. It can be used for sweetening tea and coffee and does not effect the flavor."

"How about its use in canning fruits?" Mr. McMurtry said it could be used successfully for putting up any kind of fruits, but not for making jelly. Honey now sells at 25 cents a pound at wholesale, but with increased production the price would probably be lower. Before the war it sold at from 10 to 15 cents a pound.

Asked about the production of honey in this state, Mr. McMurtry said there were from 90,000 to 100,000 colonies or swarms in this state, and the average production is 50 pounds per colony. Sometimes a hive will yield as much as 300 pounds. The Maple Honey Co. of Antigo has reported an average yield of 185 pounds from their apiary.

Mr. McMurtry said, "Bee raising is a fascinating work, carried on for pleasure as well as profit. Dr. Robert L. Siebeck, for instance, is giving all his time to this work on the farm of Senator La Follette. It furnishes intimacy with an insect whose activity has been a subject of absorbing study from the earliest times."

"From what flowers do the bees principally get their honey?" Mr. McMurtry was asked. He said, "From buckwheat, clover, basswood, fireweed and various other wild flowers."

"Do the bees injure growing crops?" "No," said Mr. McMurtry, "on the contrary they benefit them. Clover seed is now worth $40 a bushel. If we had more bees it would be cheaper, for clover is a self-sterile blossom, and bees or other insects are necessary to the pollination of the flowers."

"How can more bees be obtained in Wisconsin?" Mr. McMurtry was asked. He said: "They are shipped here from the south and generally by parcels post, in wire cages about a foot long, and they cost $3 a pound."

BADGERS FACE HARD TUSSLES WITH ILLINOIS

Teams to Clash on Track and Diamond; Tennis
Against Michigan

Today is "Illinois Day" at Camp Randall and the Badger athletes will meet two Illinois teams, baseball and track, in a supreme effort to boost their conference standings and at the same time humble an old rival on the athletic field.

The baseball battle will start at 1:30 followed by the dual track meet at 3:30. While these contests are in progress Coach Linden's net men will be fighting in a dual meet with the Michigan squad on the varsity courts, starting at 2:30.

The baseball game promises to be a sizzling scrap from start to finish. The Suckers have a strong aggregation of batsmen and the Badgers realize that it is necessary for them to score a win today in order to retain their chances in the race for the "Big Ten" title.

Coach Kent will start either Miller or Ogilvie on the mound for Wisconsin. Several shifts have been made in the infield, making an entirely new machine for today's game. Farrington who has been playing second base will take Elliott's place at shortstop; Falk formerly at third will play second, and Gifford will hold down third sack. The remainder of the lineup includes Davey C. Zolfer 1b, Emanuel H. Caesar cf, and Doyle cf.

The Illinois twirlers will probably be Ryan or Wrohke with McCurdy behind the bat. The remainder of the lineup follows: Kopp or Engstrom 1b, Crossley 2b, Moe ss, Kissinger 3b, Reichle 4b, Grangie cf, and Hass rf.

The Badgers will back the winners of the conference indoor track meet and one of the strongest underdogs in the country when they run against the Illinois athletes.

In a meet with Michigan last Saturday, the Suckers more than doubled the score over the Wolverines, scoring slams in three events, and winning five firsts. A record breaking throw in the javelin was made by Breed of Illinois, who hurled the stick 158 feet 6 inches. Other good records made in this meet which the Badgers may have to come up to today in order to score a win are: half mile 1:57 2-5, two mile 9:53 3-5, quarter mile 49 3-5.

However, Coach Tom Jones has whipped his men into top condition and with proper support from the spectators they should show the Suckers a good race.

The officials of the track meet follow:

Referee and starter—Martin Delaney (C. A. A.).
Clerk of course—R. B. Wurlitzer.
Clerk of field events—E. H. Hirschheimer.
Judges of track—C. I. Corp, J. A. Becker, S. L. Miller.
Judge of field—M. M. Hanson.
Inspector—A. Babcock.
Timers—J. C. Elsom, H. E. Vail, Warren Taylor.
Announcer—T. Handy.
Scorer—E. A. Stephenson.
Press steward—H. Gill.

McGraw To Bar Yankees From Polo Grounds

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 14.—The New York American league baseball club will not use the Polo grounds for its New York City Games after the close of this season, according to an announcement today by Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals. The lease held by the New York Americans will expire at that time, McGraw said, and will not be renewed. A conference here between Charles A. Stoneman, president of the New York Nationals, and McGraw resulted in the decision.

NBW YORK, May 14.—If we are ordered off the Polo grounds it will mean that our National league rivals will go back on their word to the Yankees," said Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York American league club, today. "When the Federal league peace settlement was made early in 1916 one of the stipulations was that the New York Nationals should grant us a long term lease on the Polo grounds. We had a verbal understanding to that effect. However, if the Giants do not want us any longer on the Polo grounds, there is no use trying to stay around. We probably will be able to find a home somewhere for 1921."

PREP SCHOOLS IN TRACK MEET

Oak Park High School Favorite in Inter-Scholastic
Event at Lake Forest
College Today

CHICAGO—Oak Park high school, winner of the inter-scholastic meet at Beloit, is a favorite in today's inter-scholastic track and field meet at Lake Forest college in which 218 athletes from 21 Illinois and Wisconsin high schools are entered. In the absence of the Chicago university prep meet the Lake Forest event today is regarded as the chief event of the kind for schools of this territory.

North division and west division high schools of Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha will be the Badger state's best bets against the well balanced Oak Park squad.

SERVICE IDEAL SHOULD GUIDE COLLEGE MEN

—COL. MORROW

Inspecting Officer Lauds
R. O. T. C. as Accentuating
Responsibility

"George Washington was the wealthiest man in the colonies, but we do not think of him in this connection; we think of him crossing the Delaware to do something for his country," said Col. F. J. Morrow, of the inspection board, when interviewed yesterday.

"I should like to draw the attention of the young men of the University of Wisconsin to the fact that history remembers only those men who during their lifetime performed public service. History does not particularly dwell on the accumulation of wealth or great learning or wisdom except as it serves some other than for personal advantage. Military training, being primarily for the defense of country, habituates its members to a sense of national duty."

Training Stresses Duties
"In passing about the country and talking with educators the inspection board learns from them that the spirit of Americanism and of national service are among the big outstanding benefits derived from the R. O. T. C. Every college graduate should keenly appreciate the obligation that rests upon him as a citizen to render public service primarily to his country both in time of peace and war. Military training tends to accentuate this factor of national service and make young men conscious of their national duties. If it were not for this I would not favor it."

Announce Ratings Later
The ratings of the Wisconsin unit, according to Colonel Morrow, will not be known until towards the end of the year. Three inspection boards now are at work, and they will have to compare results before any ratings are given.

White Sox Leave New York in Rain With Cicotte on Sick List—Reuther is Canned
by Umpire Klem

THE CUBS won a game from the Boston Braves yesterday, and pried the Beantown club out of first place as a result. Incidentally the Bruins attained for the first time this season the dignity of a 500 average in games won and lost.

Claude Hendrix turned the trick, while Boston used three pitchers, Scott, Rudolph and Hearn. From the three of them the Cubs collected but six hits, while the Braves got just twice as many. The Cubs got five of their seven runs in the lucky seventh on an error, three passes, and two singles by Hollocher and Paskert, each good for two runs. The final count was 1 to 4.

The White Sox were halted by rain again yesterday and took a train out of New York late last night to Boston, where they will face the second place Red Sox today. Eddie Cicotte did not accompany the team, but remained in bed at his hotel, where he has been confined with tonsillitis and, quincy since Wednesday.

The Sox figure that they are due to rise in the standings in the near future however. Risberg's spiked knee is nearly healed and he will get into the Boston series. Dicky Kerr's arm is coming round again, and the midge hurler is expected to fill Cicotte's place in the coming games.

The Brooklyn Dodgers can't finish a game in nine innings to save their lives. They have broken all records this year for consecutive long games. Yesterday they played fourteen innings before they scored four runs to defeat the St. Louis Cards 5 to 1. Grimes and Goodwin went the entire distance for their teams.

The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Phillies 4 to 3 yesterday. Reuther officially won the game, but he was canned by Umpire Klem in the seventh for kicking on decisions on balls and strikes. Eller and Ring followed and got into all sorts of trouble. Cantwell of the Phillies forced over the winning run by hitting Groh.

The Senators produced the punch when the punch was needed yesterday and added another defeat to the Tiger's fast growing list. They won the game in the ninth, score 9 to 3. Roth of Washington scored three runs without making a hit.

ROUNDY'S RAZZBERRIES

Spring time is really here now. The benches are out in the capitol park. Dudgeon, the insurance man, has had two reserved for him for the rest of the summer.

Anybody who wants to buy my Prom suit can have it by calling at Hess's pawn shop on Williamson st.

I did not get much dope for the readers on the Prom due to the fact that Forest Trumpf and Buck Callahan, my two press agents for the event, hung on to window sills outside till 3 o'clock.

That dollar a minute plane was busy yesterday all afternoon. I suppose a bunch of switchmen out on an afternoon lark.

Jakie Schillinger, the Capital Times kid printer, is now a full fledged Johnnie. He took out an Orpheum chorus girl and they had a feed. Jakie said he just looked on while she ate $3.20 worth. Now Jakie claims she ate for him.

I did not have a ticket to get in the Prom with. I told the man at the door that I was with a newspaper. Then he said, you must be talking about The Capital Times. He then told the usher, "Give him a box."

Sheriff Krug wishes every day was Prom day. There was no room left to get at the hotels so he rented out nine cells to visitors last night. Now Under Sheriff McCormick wants half of the money for being chamber maid.

What I call a brave man now is a fellow who will leave his auto parked on Monona ave., at night.

A lot of people want to know why we changed the name of this corner to Razzberries. Because we thought it was getting so sweet.

Milwaukee wins 4 games in a row which goes to show you that the American Association is going nicely ahead backwards.

Badger Net Stars
Meet Wolverines

Coach Linden's tennis stars took the field against the Michigan racquet team on the Varsity courts at 2:30 this afternoon. Michigan, headed by Westbrook, has one of the strongest tennis teams in the conference. Westbrook holds the conference singles championship and was on the team winning the doubles title.

Gotfredson, Fanning, Taylor, and Broby were the Wisconsin men designated to meet the Wolverines. Each man will choose an opponent in the singles.

Madison-Kipps Meet

The Madison-Kipp baseball nine will meet the Scanlon-Morris team Sunday afternoon at Kipp Field, the game starting at 2:30. Lefty Peterson is scheduled to do mound work for the Kipps. The bleachers have been completed and will be brought into use, the management expecting to accommodate a capacity crowd of 700.

BABE RUTH IS OFF IN FRONT IN HOME RUNS

Nicholson Leads National League With 455—Johnson Leads Younger Circuit With 414

CHICAGO—"Babe" Ruth's 1920 offensive towards a new home run record is in full bloom. The New York slugger connected with a trio of homers in two days, and has five circuit drives to his credit, according to averages completed today. The averages include games of Wednesday.

Johnson of Cleveland shot to the front among the American league batters with an average of .414 acquired in twenty games. The Cleveland first baseman connected with twenty-nine hits for a total of thirty-five bases. Joe Jackson, of Chicago, is right behind Johnson with a mark of .397 compiled in the same number of games. Jackson, however, made 31 hits for a total of 45 bases, being at bat 78 times to his rival's 70.

Bobbie Roth of Washington, is showing the way to the base stealers with nine thefts. Ty Cobb, has not yet fully recovered his batting eye. In twenty-one games the Detroit star has made only 18 hits for an average of .243. Other leading batters: Kinney, Philadelphia .381; Weaver, Chicago .366; Felsch, Chicago .362; Speaker, Cleveland .342; Hendryx, Boston .341; Gerber, St. Louis .338; Gedeon, St. Louis .337; Sisler, St. Louis .333.

Outfielder Nicholson, of Pittsburgh has taken the lead among the National league batters. He is hitting .455 for 12 games, with Roger Hornsby, the St. Louis star the runner-up with .414, one point in front of Lehoureau of Philadelphia. The averages include players who have participated in ten or more games.

Max Flack, Chicago's lead-off man, is the leading run getter. He has registered 17 times, and has been on base an average of twice a game, but the members following him have not been able to deliver the necessary punch to put him across the plate with anything like consistency.

Williams of Philadelphia and Robertson of Chicago, are tied for home run honors. Each has whacked out three round trips. Rousch, of Cincinnati, who has recovered his batting eye, is up among the leaders this week, is in a triple tie for stolen base honors with his team mate Neale and Stock of St. Louis. Each has pilfered five bases. Other leading batters: Groh, Cincinnati .371; Burns, New York .355; Wheat Brooklyn .354; Dauter, Cincinnati .333; Flack, Chicago .321; Roush, Cincinnati .321; Myers, Brooklyn .319.

O'Mara of Indianapolis is clinging to the batting lead of the American Association with an average of .408. He also is giving Leo Dressen the St. Paul flyer, a race for baseball stealing honors. O'Mara has seven thefts to his credit while Dressen is leading with nine. Del Gainer of Milwaukee is setting the pace for the budding "Babe Ruths" with four homers. Other leading batters for twelve or more games: Kienline, Indianapolis .375; Brainard, Columbus .368; Henry, Columbus .368; Tineup, Louisville .360; Wickland, Toledo .358; Schreiber, Indianapolis .344; Gaston, Milwaukee .338; Miller, St. Paul .333.

Miller of Little Rock clubbed his way to the batting leadership of the Southern Association with a mark of .360. Moore also of Little Rock, who led a week ago, is in second place with .355. Miller's four home runs are commanding the respect of the league. Gleason of Chattanooga is pressing Carroll of Memphis for base stealing honors. Carroll, with eight thefts, has a lead of one. Other leading batters for fifteen or more games: Bladesm, Memphis .351; Harper, Little Rock .341; Wane, Little Rock .333; Carroll Memphis .333; Mayer, Atlanta .318; High, Memphis .316; Ellis, Birmingham .313; Bischoff, Memphis .313.

Bogart of Joplin is the new batting leader of the Western league. He has an average of .435 made in eighteen games. Kelleher of St. Joseph has taken the lead in base stealing, having eight thefts to his credit. Other leading batters for twelve or more games: Reichls, Sioux City .425; Dunn, Joplin .405; Pitt, Oklahoma City .400; Yaryan, Wichita .397; Bonawitz, St. Joseph .395; Butler, Wichita .373; Krueger, Joplin .364; Crosby St. Joseph .356; Platts, Omaha .342.

SAY EMPLOYEES AIDED ROBBERS IN SEA HOLDUP

Ship Passengers at Batum
Complain to British

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Charges that the French steamer Soudra could not have been robbed by Black Sea pirates on May 6, without complicity of persons employed on the ship were made by 300 indignant passengers of the craft, who landed here today in a driving rain. Punishment and enraged, the passengers joined in denouncing the failure of British authorities at Batum to disarm the robbers before they boarded the Soudra.

James Wood of Glasgow, Scotland, who witnessed the hold-up, said the thieves showed "great courtesy" asking the passengers if they wanted lemonade or tea and ordering stewards to bring refreshments.

"FIGHTING WITHOUT A WAR"

"FOR God's sake send me a little flag in your next letter. I haven't seen one since I came to this awful country." Thus wrote an American soldier to his sweetheart in a letter from Russia.

Ralph Albertson reports this letter in a book just published, entitled, Fighting Without a War, which gives the American people the first reliable account, and almost the only knowledge they have obtained of our part in the Russian war.

Mr. Albertson, a Boston business man, went through the whole Russian campaign, joining the American Y. M. C. A. and landing at Archangel in December, 1918. He says:

"No American flag was ever raised over our troops in Russia. The American soldier was fed with foreign food, clothed in part with foreign clothes, invading a foreign country, given orders by foreign officers, and fighting a war that was foreign to all he had ever thought of America. He had gone into the army to fight Germany, and here he found himself after the armistice fighting an unknown foe with whom the United States was not at war, and quite as much out of sympathy with the officers of another nationality whom he had to obey, as with the men whom he was trying to kill.

When the American forces were withdrawn in June, 1919, an entirely new British army, completely equipped and much larger than the previous force was landed in North Russia. Of this fact no report has ever appeared in the daily press.

After the landing of this force the British imposed military and labor conscription on the Russian population. But the severity and brutality aroused an opposition which led to mutiny of the conscripted Russian troops, the English were supposed to be helping. Bolshevism spread among the people and the whole British force was withdrawn in September.

When American troops were sent to Russia, here is what President Wilson said:

In taking this action (intervention) the government of the United States wishes to announce to the people of Russia in the most public and solemn manner that it contemplates no interference with the political sovereignty of Russia, no intervention in her internal affairs—not even in the local affairs of the limited areas which our military forces may be obliged to occupy—and no impairment of her territorial integrity, either now or hereafter, but what we are about to do has as its single and only object the rendering of such aid as shall be acceptable to the Russian people themselves in their endeavors to regain control of their own affairs, their own territory, and their own destiny.

Yet our troops, with the English, overturned the popular government of Vladivostok, held an election, did not like the result, and overturned the local government again.

Mr. Albertson says:

I should not have appreciated it had I not lived with men who were daily facing death for a cause unknown, without patriotic background or personal interest, and under the insistent domination of officers of another nation who looked down upon them, and talked about them discreditably. . . . I have been made to feel how terribly great a thing was the death of one man who as I held his hand cursed the fate that made him die in a fight for which he had no heart.

It is an amazing commentary on the daily press, that news regarding an American foreign expedition should have been withheld for almost a year, and now reaches the public through the publication of a book.

LOOKING FOR AN ALIBI

THE reactionaries of the state looking about for an alibi to lift them out of the debris in which the recent election left them have begun to maintain that the "Berger vote" defeated the Philipp delegates.

Our mathematical processes fail to convince us that the 100,000 lead that was obtained by the La Follette delegates was made up in large part by the socialist vote. It is doubtful whether or not the straight socialist strength in the state will go over 40,000.

The real significance of this kind of talk, however, reveals how lamentably the reactionaries fail to see the new spirit of the American voter. They fail to see that the American voter is concerning himself more with PRINCIPLE and less with PARTY.

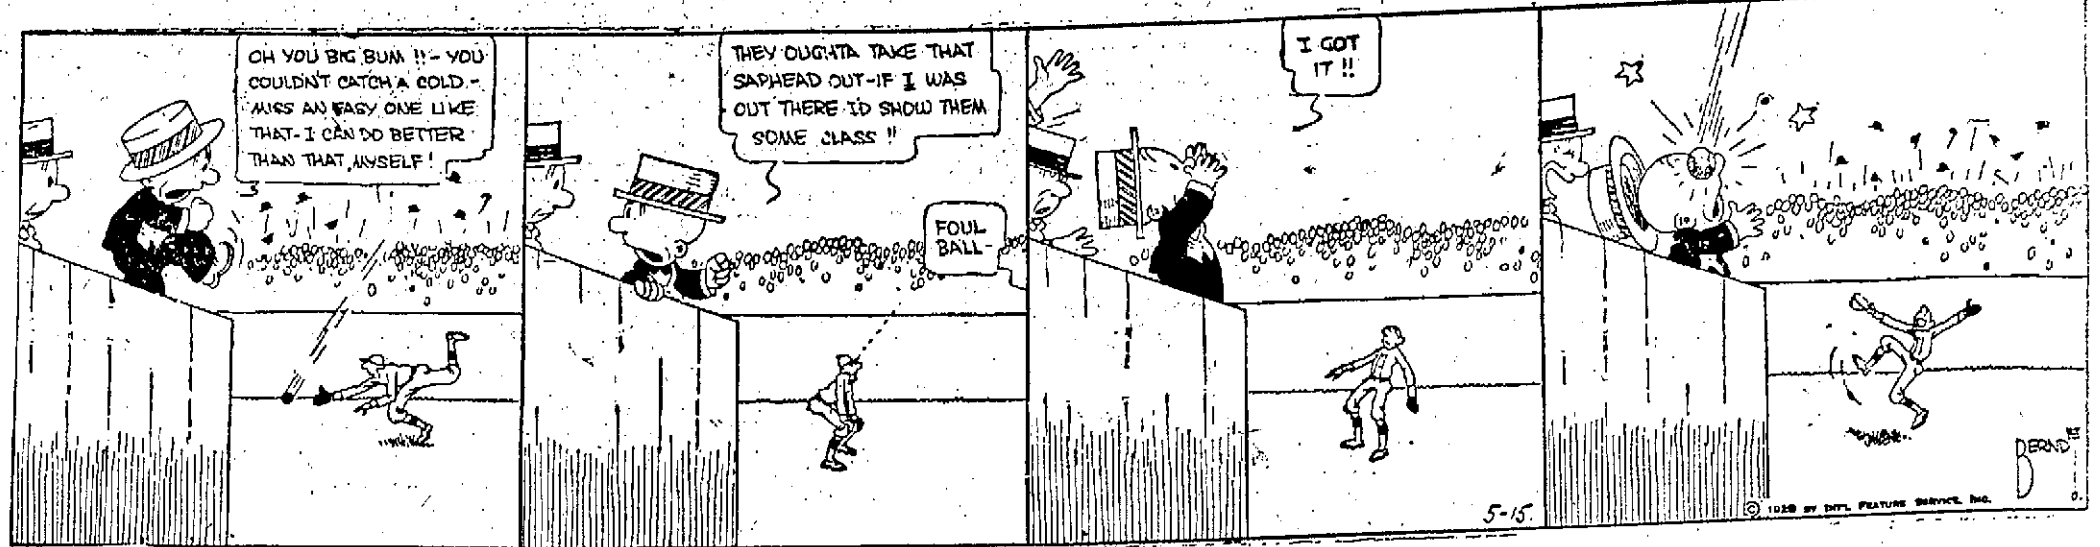

It is an encouraging sign that we are fast getting over the period when a man voted republican because his father did. We are now finding that men are going into primaries where they can best serve those principles which they desire inaugurated. They are more interested in principles than in party labels.

What a false alignment we have in this country today! Is the real alignment in Wisconsin republican or democrat or is it reactionary or progressive? The latter of course, and we do not know that our reactionary republican friends have ever protested against the aid that has come to them at the polls from reactionary democrats.

It is rumored that Gov. Philipp contemplates including in his call for the special session a plan to change the primary law to keep voters "in their own primaries." Gov. Philipp evidently thinks that he can keep the party yokel on people in these days. Gov. Philipp has been taking pot shots at the primary law ever since he entered the governor's office. The law has remained, however, practically unimpaired.

We do not believe that, with an election coming, the members of the legislature will dare to change a law that has become a settled public policy in Wisconsin.

DR. SHELDON FOR HUGHES
Dr. Charles S. Sheldon of Madison contributes an article to the Springfield Republican advocating Hughes. The article follows:

It is admitted by everyone that the nation needs the very best pilot obtainable to guide us through the troubled waters of the coming year—that he should have not only a right character, but that he should also be able, wise, broad-minded, experienced, independent and with as large a knowledge as possible of both foreign and domestic political and economic conditions.

I believe a very large number of people—mainly inarticulate at present—are of the opinion that none of those now actively seeking the republican nomination—if we except Mr. Hoover—measures up to the standards of our ideals of necessity. It would seem that the task of the republican convention is comparatively easy, as it is extremely probable that any good man they may nominate can be almost surely elected. It is therefore unnecessary to lay any special stress upon merely popular, or vote-getting qualifications. If the members of the convention are patriotic and single-minded they have only to seek out this man best qualified and, when found, name him as the candidate.

As to the convention itself—it is likely that, after several ballots, the contest will narrow down to Hoover, Johnson, Wood and Lowden. There will be few "second choices" on account of the animosities of the pre-convention period, and none of the four will rise sufficiently above the others, as regards both availability and fitness for the office, to occupy a commanding position. Under these circumstances the outcome is likely to be an impasse—a stalemate—with a "dark horse" to be led out and put into the running.

Of course, the number of "dark horses" is legion, but I believe that only two are deserving of special mention—Herbert Hoover and Charles E. Hughes. I admire Mr. Hoover exceedingly and would be satisfied if he could be nominated and elected, but it seems very unlikely that, with the field reduced to Johnson, Hoover and Wood, or perhaps Lowden, he could secure the nomination. It is unnecessary, to name the disadvantages under which he labors, but, in a political convention, his indeterminate party position, and the condition attached to the acceptance of the nomination, are likely to prove a serious handicap.

If we assume that Mr. Hoover cannot be nominated, it seems to me that there should be some good alternative to either Johnson, Wood or Lowden, and I believe that the country affords no better compromise candidate than Mr. Hughes. He possesses all the qualifications I have mentioned as desirable in a candidate to meet the present crisis. He would assume the duties of the office with no political debts to pay. Eight years ago we induced him to relinquish his seat on the supreme bench because almost the unanimous voice of the republican party proclaimed him ideally fitted for the presidency. He is now even better fitted for the office, with four years of added knowledge and experience. He is 68 years old, in the prime of life, and a great multitude irrespective of party, believe implicitly in his ability, integrity, wisdom and independence. In our great and impelling need can we do any better?

CHARLES S. SHELDON.
Madison, Wis., April 15, 1920.

THE MELON SEASON
To the Editor of the Capital Times:
The melon season comes early this year. From the financial news from the big city papers we read that six big companies have cut big stock melons. One of them gives its stockholders 400 per cent and the stock they receive can be sold at high prices. Yet our supreme court says this is not income. For if such is the legal mind. Expect the man who gets $30 to $40 a week and has 5 or 6 children to feed and clothe wishes he could have some of that melon which is not income! Think he could find a way to make it cash.

There has been a revolution on the Isle of Man, but it wasn't caused by women's demand for the vote.

SLEUTHOLOGY
The dazed man lifted himself on his elbow and tried to collect his senses. He had been dragged from his automobile and tapped on the head with the soft side of a blackpack. A stranger hurried to the scene. He was a detect-a-tive. He glanced hastily around. He saw an empty pocketbook lying in the road. He saw a broken watch chain hanging from the man's vest. He saw where the necktie had been cut off. Just above the diamond pin. And like a flash. He arrived at a conclusion, "Migosh, man!" he exclaimed, "You have been robbed." The half-dazed victim lifted a weak voice and gasped: "I believe Your marvelous deductions are correct."

The country girls are vanishing from the rural parts, and a magazine writer is much worried, and asks where they have gone. Boy, they don't believe it, go and look at some of the movies.

BALLADE OF YE ULT CONSUMER
Up to the milkman's claxon call— His bottles rattle in the hall— It's five o'clock and that is all, He says his milk is up in price Since the day before, and that is nice Sing ho! for the merry milkman, He's a jolly wight Who pumps all night— A toast to the cheerful milkman.

Back to the old hay to enjoy A snooze, then comes the butcher's boy. A limb of the faithful hot polloi, Who bring the chops, with good intent. And says they have gone up a cent. Sing ho! for the honest butcher.

Who hates to charge A price that's large— A cheer for the suffering butcher—

And then, the piercing summons: "Ice!" How much today? It's up in price— Fifteen cents for a ten-cent slice; Shake a leg or you'll be too late; I haven't got all day to wait! Sing ho! for the humble iceman. For water's shy, So ice is high— A toast to the modest iceman. The tap-tap of the landlord's cane Is heard ere the day begins to wane. He's forced to raise the rent again For he's losing a fortune every day, To the poorhouse he is on his way, Can't save a cent From all his rent— A tear for the hero landlord.

Some day upon a lonesome lea— An epitaph for all to see, A victim of prosperity, Who gave his all that others might Roll up their fortunes over night. Sing ho; for the ult consumer! Give him your vote As the world's price goes— "Here Lies Old Ult Consumer."

Statistics are wonderful: The number of "his" dropped in London every day would fill a reservoir as large as the Woolworth building.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY
Two hundred and seven years ago today, a lazy inventor of Falmouth, Mass., invented the washboard, which has been one of the greatest boons to mankind. After he invented the washboard the inventor stopped work permanently and his wife began. However, he pointed the way to many thousands of shiftless husbands and his name will go down in history. We can't think just now what it was.

State Press and Politics

TITTEMORE
Enter Brother Tittimore into the race for governor. Really, it seems like old times.—Eau Claire Leader.

SOCIALISTS ELECTED WILSON
On the opening day of the convention last Saturday Morris Hillquit was loudly cheered when he alleged that many Socialists were deceived by President Wilson, who in the 1916 campaign catered to the Socialist sentiment, and led many Socialists to make the mistake of cutting loose from their party and giving the election to Mr. Wilson, who thereupon forgot all about his pledges, both direct and implied, in the campaign. Mr. Hillquit said the president clearly owed his election in 1916 to Socialists, and he referred particularly to California, which in the election of that year proved to be the deciding state. In 1912 the Socialist candidate for president received 79,201 votes in California, but in 1916 the Socialist candidate for president received only 43,263 votes in that state, or 35,938 less than four years earlier. According to Mr. Hillquit practically none of those 35,938 voters voted for Hughes. They simply went over to Wilson, giving him a majority in that state over Hughes of 3,773, and re-electing him president of the United States. Without those 35,938 votes, Wilson would have been more than 30,000 votes behind Hughes in California.

TOO MUCH COMMISSION
It is quite generally dawning upon the minds of Wisconsin people that the state railroad commission, the state industrial commission and other state commissions, are more instruments that are used as adjuncts to utilities and public service corporations, to enforce hard-ship upon the users of these utilities than they are in protecting the general public. It would be a rare decision that has been handed down by the railroad commission in the last two or three years where the request of the utility had not been granted.—Portage Register Democrat.

THIRD PARTY NEWS
Third-party news is being suppressed as much as possible. Well, if they did publish anything about it, probably it would be lies. The American Press Association needs some suppressing itself. Many old-line politicians seem to take seriously the talk of a third party. If it should materialize, it might quite possibly win. "Bob" might put that pompadour into the big white mansion yet.—Dodgeville Sun-Republic.

Trade Expedition Goes to Liberia
LONDON.—The London headquarters of the Union of Siberian co-operatives has received word that Gregory Krassin, Bolshevik minister of trade and commerce, has granted permission to the union's representatives for the organization of a trade expedition which will proceed from England to the mouth of the Ob and Yenisei rivers for the purpose of reopening trade on a bartering basis with Siberia. American and British traders will be represented, co-operatives executives said today. It is expected the expedition will start early in August.
